NEED-BASED AID

As part of our commitment to reach the most students, we offer need-based scholarships to qualifying individuals. Admissions decisions are need-blind. Once you are admitted to the university, we will work with you to figure out how to best fund your education.

FINANCIAL AID HANDBOOK:

GET CREDIT FOR WHAT YOU KNOW

www.future.edu/prior-learning-assessment/

Your experience in community development can earn you credit for what you already know. A Prior Learning Assessment will ensure you get the credit you have already earned and only take the courses you need to graduate.

Use your work, volunteer, or educational experience to obtain credit for a course. This provides a way to validate what you already know how to do in community development, allowing you to earn your degree more quickly.

If your experience aligns with courses in the Future Generations Course Catalog, you may be able to obtain credit for this course once you have demonstrated you have gained the necessary skills and knowledge through life experiences.

ALTERNATIVE ADMISSIONS TRACK

Future Generations University offers an Alternative Admissions Track, a path to qualify for the master's program without a bachelor's if you demonstrate that you can perform at a graduate level. Enroll and receive a B or better in four courses, after which you will qualified for admission to the MA program based on your proven performance.

CAN I ATTEND PART TIME?

Yes! You can take one or two classes, as your schedule permits. Our students have full lives outside of school and a full-time academic schedule isn't feasible for everyone. In addition, you can start classes either in the fall semester or the spring semester.

HOW DO CLASSES WORK?

The University uses a distance-delivered, blended learning model. Classes meet live, online, for one hour each week. All coursework, which includes readings, videos, presentations, are completed and graded online. Every class includes a community lab. All lab work is done within your community, so what you learn in class is applied directly to your community. Field Courses are offered at least twice a year for 2-3 credits. These are similar to short-term study abroad programs; designed for place-based, in-person immersion alongside your peers from around the world. Personalized learning options include independent studies, independent projects, or internships designed by the student and supervising faculty member.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER I APPLY?

Applicants can expect to hear back about their acceptance within five weeks of their completed application. Applications received after the admission deadline will be reviewed as time allows, but may need to defer their start date to the following semester. Upon acceptance, applicants are encouraged to fill out a financial aid application right away. The financial aid process, from application to award, take approximately two weeks.

Once the financial aid process is complete, students receive a future.edu email address and login details to an online onboarding course that familiarizes them Moodle, the University's learning platform, and other digital course tools.
